DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-4 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Carnegie et al US pat. No.5,745,884.

As to claims 1 and 2, Carnegie discloses a method for pushing personalized content to a small footprint device (portable device or PDAs) comprising:

connecting the small footprint device (101 fig.1) to a first network (117 fig.1), integrating a first service running on the small footprint device with a service accessible from the first network, wherein the first service running on the small footprint device sends data to the service accessible from the first network, wherein the service to accessible from the first network stores said data (see figs.1 and 1A, abstract, col.1 lines 7-67, col.4 lines 30-61 and col.6 line 62 to col.8 line 21).

connecting the small footprint device to a second network (120 fig.1), integrating a second service running on the small footprint device with a service accessible from the second network, wherein the second service running on the small wherein the service accessible from the second network accesses said data and uses said data to generate said content, wherein the second service running on the small footprint device displays said content (i.e., exchanging information, see fig.2, col.8 line 21 to col.9 line 57 and col.10 lines 6-65).

Claim 3 is rejected for the same reasons set forth in claims 1 and 2. As to the added limitations, Carnegie discloses integrating a service running on the small footprint device with a service accessible from the network, wherein the service accessible from the network sends content to the service running on the small footprint device, wherein the service running to on the small footprint device displays said content (i.e., exchanging information, see fig.2, col.8 line 21 to col.9 line 57 and col.10 lines 6-65).

Claim 4 is rejected for the same reasons set forth in claims 1 and 2. As to the added limitations, Carnegie discloses a processing unit, a system memory and a software framework (see col.1 line 50 to col.2 line 54 and col.6 line 62 to col.8 line 20).

Other prior art cited

Art Unit: 2155

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
